Published on Highland Park Public Library (http://hplibrary.org)

First Week of December - What You Need to Know!

By efardoux
Created 2012-12-01 16:23

First Week of December - What You Need to Know!

Happy December, everyone! It was a busy, busy weekend here at the library - lots of visitors for us gerbils and lots of books checked out!

Special December Hours
* On Friday, December 7, the library will open at 2pm due to a staff inservice.
* The library will close at 1pm on Monday, December 24, and remain closed on Tuesday, December 25. We will reopen at 9am on Wednesday, December 26!
* We will close at 1pm on Monday, December 31, and remain closed on the first of the new year - Tuesday, January 1, 2013 ! We'll reopen at 11am on Wednesday, January 2, after our first all-staff meeting of the new year.

Winter Break Programs

Bubble Wonders Show - December 27, 11am.
Watch spellbound as bubbleologist Akins creates bubble caterpillars, ice cream cones, a snowman, a volcano, dancing bubbles, a bubble merry-go-round and a bubble around a real kid. You'll never look at bubbles the same way again! One adult per family group - make sure to register each attendee separately!

Close Encounters of the Chemical Kind - January 3, 2pm.
Try fun, exciting hands-on experiments that create magic drawings, slime, superballs, and chemically altered "gold" and "silver" coins: all yours to take home. Witness chemical reactions involving exploding foam and dazzling displays of fire and liquid nitrogen! (In a safe environment.) This is a drop-off program - no adults (or gerbils) allowed!

Winter Storytime

Winter storytime registration begins on December 3.

Book Patch

Stay entertained over winter break & participate in Book Patch! Earn sew-on patches for reading books!

Renovation News

Lots of work has been done in Adult Services this week - the digital media lab and staff offices have walls now! Check the renovation blog for photos!

Tags: The Gerbils

- The Gerbils

Source URL: http://hplibrary.org/kids/blog/WYNTKTWDec1