

February 4 2012

Just a Thought -- New (and Notable) Nonfiction Audiobooks

Thinking the Twentieth Century by Tony Judt

An ambitious intellectual history of the Twentieth Century in which Judt examines the many currents that shaped the innovations, conflicts, economics and politics of our recent past.

"... this marvelous précis, vibrantly alive, rich, and piquant, is one last gift from an exceptional public intellectual. Not only academics and fans of Judt, but also those who enjoy the New York Review of Books and The New Yorker will flock to read it." (Library Journal)

Behind the Beautiful Forevers by Katherine Boo

A Pulitzer Prize winning author profiles the lives of everyday people living in the slums of Mumbai, illustrating the struggle to change their circumstances.

"Boo brilliantly brings to life the residents of Annawadi, allowing the reader to know them and admire the fierce intelligence that allows them to survive in a world not made for them. The best book yet written on India in the throes of a brutal transition." (Kirkus)

Malcolm X: A Life of Reinvention by Manning Marable

A National Book Award finalist, this new definitive biography explores the life of one of the most influential figures of social change in America.

"Combing through FBI and NYPD files, gathering Nation of Islam interviews, and fleshing out Malcolm's post-NOI activities abroad, Marable succeeds spectacularly in painting a broader and more complex portrait of a man constantly in search of himself and his place in America." (Publishers Weekly)

RA Blog Categories:

Just a Thought

Source URL: <http://hplibrary.org/bibliofiles/just-thought-new-and-notable-nonfiction-audiobooks?page=10>