The Author: Jesse Lowe Smith was born in Macon, Illinois, on 23 November 1869, to the Rev. Leonard Francis Smith (1838-1874) and Bridget Ann Lowe Smith (1842-1941). His father’s diary for that date: “At 5:30 wife bore me another child, a boy weighing 10 lbs when dressed. Dr. Tobey was the physician…” Jesse’s father, Leonard Francis Smith, son of Jesse Smith and his second wife, Sophia Lake Spencer, had married Bridget Ann Lowe, daughter of William Fletcher Lowe and Elsea Aquila, on 10 September 1863. They had six children, Elsie (1864), Kittie Grace (1865-1932), Clarence Bruner (1867-1943), Jesse Lowe, Edith (1873-1957), and Lennie Francis (1874-1976).

Jesse Lowe Smith attended grade school in Macon, Illinois. With a passion for books and nature study, Jesse saw his life as a teacher. He attended the Academy in Benton Harbor, Michigan from 1884-1887, living with his Great Aunt Margaret Crooks. In 1888 he returned to Macon where he taught for three years. Teaching and studying independently as he taught, Jesse, at age 21, qualified for entrance to De Pauw University in September 1891. He completed his education at the University of Chicago from 1892 to 1894.¹ After one year at De Pauw, he returned for one term at Macon, and then, with his mother and sisters, went to Lexington, Illinois where he taught for four years from 1893-1897, followed by five years in Park Ridge, Illinois. In May 1902, Jesse came to Highland Park as principal of the Elm Place School. He was Superintendent of Schools for District 107 at the time of his death on 21 April 1934.² His diaries reveal Jesse Lowe Smith to be a man of many interests and great influence. He was widely known and respected throughout Illinois as an innovative educator and avid naturalist and in Highland Park as an educational, cultural and civic leader. He inspired the Elm Place School teachers to higher ideals of education and the students to a deeper understanding and appreciation for the world around them. He left a lasting impression on all who knew him in life and continues to inspire many who make his acquaintance through his diaries and his legacy in Highland Park.

Identifications: In his diaries, Jesse frequently refers to members of his family. During his years in Highland Park, Jesse provided a home from his mother and sister Kittie. They are often referred to in the diaries as M. and K. His brother Clarence Bruner is referred to as Clarence or Clarence B., and Clarence’s two sons, Leonard and Clarence, Jr. (Bruner or Junior) are also mentioned. Jesse’s sister Edith married Clarence Danforth (Dan, Danforth or Clarence D. in the diaries). His sister Lennie married Arthur Enders, and their children, Robert and Ruth Anne, are mentioned in the diaries.

Transcriber’s Notes: Every attempt has been made to provide an accurate transcription of the diary entries with respect to spelling, grammar, and punctuation; therefore incorrect or inconsistent (Mr. Smith spelled the same word in different ways at different times) usage is retained without the use of (sic). When words were added above the line, they have been inserted into the text. When words were inadvertently repeated, the second occurrence of the word has been dropped. Margin notes are indicated as such and are placed following the text that they appeared adjacent to in the diary. When words were illegible, brackets have been supplied enclosing a blank space [   ]. Words that could not be deciphered with certainty have been placed in brackets followed by a question mark [like this?]. Transcriber’s notes are indicated by brackets [like this – ed.]. Clippings that were pasted into the diary are described in a transcriber’s note, but are not always transcribed.

²Diaries 1859-1874 of The Reverend Leonard Smith, Circuit Rider by Blanche Beal Lowe.
[Pasted at the front of this diary is a clipping of a newspaper article, “Turner Land is Auctioned for $47,000,” written by N.H. Shere. The article notes, “A bid of $47,500 offered by the John G. Oldweiler real estate firm of Decatur, bought the John McClure Turner farms at an auction held Monday afternoon on the Turner home place at the edge of Macon. Individual bids on the four farms fell approximately $3,000 short of the total mortgage indebtedness…….Approximately 300 people attended the sale.” – ed.]

[Mr. Smith wrote letters thanking people for contributing material for the Audubon Bulletin. Two letters from Mr. Smith are transcribed as follows: - ed.]

January 1, 1932.

Mr. Watson Hall,
Athens, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Hall:

Thank you for another valued contribution to the field notes for the Audubon Bulletin. Your remark about the scarcity of items that are unusual applies to each of the reports that has thus far reached me. Each report is of interest never-the-less as helping to get a picture of the whole situation. Up our way there is some evidence that northern birds are straggling into this area. A collector for the biological department of the coming Century of Progress exposition has “taken” an evening grosbeak in my (Lake) county and some one sent in to him a specimen or two each of crossbills and pipits. I happened to meet a stray snow bunting on the prairie west of my home and had a nice visit with it, the only one I ever met in life in this area.

Well, again thanking you for your good assistance, and wishing you the best of the new season, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

I will remember you when our Bulletin comes form the press.

January 1, 1932.

Mr. Carl Gower,
606 So. Illinois Avenue,
Carbondale, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Gower:

I am under obligation to you for the very welcome notes for the forthcoming issue of the Illinois Audubon Bulletin. I have taken the liberty to add three or four more sentences of description of Horseshoe Lake to emphasize the importance of your reference to the region. I have just spent three days at Springfield and had a fine chat with Mr. R. B. Miller, our state forester. We talked about Horseshoe Lake and I inquired how I might find someone who could give me an idea of the bird life likely to be wintering there. I told him I knew Miss Steagall and he advised me to try her and inquire about a Miss Stein who he thinks is preparing a thesis on the ecology of the region. I had already written Miss Steagall as you know but I sat down at the hotel and wrote her the second letter. You can imagine my pleasure when I got home last night to find your letter with just what I was asking for. I will now write Miss Steagall and tell her I do not need to hunt up Miss Stein.

During my vacation last April I drove with our drawing supervisor down to Cairo and back. We took five or six days for it and our itinerary included Cahokia Mounds, Fort Chartres, Alto Pass and State Forest and when we reached Mounds it was late in the day and we had only a short time for the detour to Horseshoe Lake. We were there only half an hour and could not get a boat across to the island (there was lots of real water in the lake then) but I have been talking about the cypress trees and the whole area ever since. I would certainly love to spend a lot of time there studying the plant and animal life. I envy your comparative nearness to the area.

Under separate cover I am sending you a copy of each of the last two Bulletins and when the new one appears I will send you several copies. --- Again thanking you for your kindness, I am

[On this day, Mr. Smith wrote a letter accepting an invitation to speak before the Prairie Club. A hand-written reply to Mr. Smith’s letter from Jennie Pettersen is transcribed as follows: - ed.]

Chicago, Ill. Mar. 6 – 1932
Mr. Jesse L. Smith;
334 Vine Ave.
Highland Park, Ill.
My Dear Mr. Smith;
I received your letter of Feb. 15 in accepting my request to talk on plant life and birds at one of the Open Meetings of the Prairie Club.
Our committee meets once a month so could do nothing until we had our March meeting. I read your letter to committee and they are very much pleased and we have decided we want you for a whole evening. I hope you do not think us selfish in asking for so much.
We decided at our meeting that you have just as much right to pay as anyone else.
Laura Frazeur is always paid.
I suppose you noticed in the March Bulletin that the talk this month was on Yellowstone National Park and Billboards. It seems Major Martindale was to be in city now and the Open Meetings committee thought they had better take him while they could. The open meetings Committee work fast and one never know what they are going to do before another committee makes its decision. It happens they have the rest of the Spring months filled so the Open Meetings Committee and the Conservation committee are very anxious to have you speak to Prairie Club either the third Tuesday in September or the third Tuesday in October.

Maybe I am asking too much of you, but both committees are enthusiastic about having you talk. It is some years since we have had any talk like that. Seems to me it is all of ten years since Mr. Schantz gave his bird talk and the gentleman with him gave the bird calls. Your talk would fit in Spring better but there will be many who will appreciate it in fall. I should have known you are a member of our club. I joined in June 1910. Sincerely hoping we will have the great pleasure of hearing you next Sept. or Oct. I am

Sincerely

[Passed to this page is a sheet of typed travel notes. It is transcribed as follows: - ed.]

April 4, 1932.

Knoxville. St. James Hotel. The fighting bellhop. Sevierville. Court Day. The election of a highway commissioner. The clerk at the drug store explained that there was “a right smart interest in it”. Three or four hundred men milling around. The ride on to Gatlinburg. The tiny violet by the roadside. Cinquefoil. Mountain View Hotel, 10:15 A.M. Rest before lunch.

Looked up Mr. Trainer after lunch. Dorothy and Mrs T. were in Knoxville for the day. He laid aside his work and took us around for the afternoon. First walked along the valley to get a fine view of LeConte. Then climbed the trail to Uncle Tom’s cabin. Two rooms. Aunt Lizzie. Been there 39 years. Five children born there. All gone elsewhere—to “Alabam” etc. Two grandchildren there. The boy sold me a sourwood walking stick. The row of bee-gums. Back down the trail, then across the creek and finally up to Harrison Owenby’s at end of the trail. Mother and 6 or 7 children at home. Two oldest girls go to school—the Beta Pi school, in G. Walk down trail—two miles. A friendly visit. The pile of corn cobs. On way down to G. two young fellows obligingly showed us how gristmill worked—undershot wheel.

Mr. T. ate with us at hotel. Mrs T. and Dorothy came in at 7:30 and we visited an hour or so. Wash-day. Two kettles by a brook, the usual outfit. Alas, only the budding stage of dogwood and redbud. Sassafras beginning. Oxydendrum arboreum—sourwood. Sorrel-tree.

At Gatlinburg

[Passed to this page is a sheet of typed travel notes. It is transcribed as follows: - ed.]

April 5, 1932.

Introduced this morning to Curtis Mc.Carter, a fine mountaineer, our guide for the day. Drove in my auto, I the driver, the guide on the back seat, up the very steep and winding trail to New Found Road. Spectacular. At top of the pass found a construction gang from Tennessee preparing to blast out the final barrier so that our road can go over the pass and down the completed road on the Tennessee side. Parked my auto back in a safe place and then we climbed higher and on along the ridge, then finally descended into Indian Gap. Pines, spruces, firs, large amelanchiers with tops broken by bears.

Here McC instructed T and me how to start down trail, “The Prong” by ourselves, and then he retraced his way to where my auto was parked and drove it down the way we had come. T and I had a gorgeous walk down the Prong. crossing and re-crossing the creek, tramping through thickets of laurel, azalea, leucothea, etc. McC parked the auto far down valley and started back on foot to meet us where the last broad ford was to be made across large and slippery boulders. And so to the hotel for lunch. After lunch McC. and T and I with the three Trainers drove in their machine out towards Henderson Springs and looked up flowers along the cliff and floodplain of the stream. Then we walked up Norton’s Creek to the great tulip tree and back.
    Yellow trillium, wild ginger, heuchera. Oil-nut, silver bell, magnolia, leucothea. The cabins. The “board maker” at work. Clapboards. Phacelia fimbriata.
    Visited at the hotel this evening with the Trainers. Looked over Dr. Pepoon’s card catalogue of the flora.

   Left our friends at Gatlinburg at 7:00. Went out by way of Marysville, a wonderful romantic gorge ride. Then to Knoxville. At Cumberland Gap at one o’clock. Lunch there. Drove up through the Gap.
   The stop to see a slope coal mine at work. Negro labor. Block coal. Sold for $1.50 at the mine mouth.
   Barbourville. The filthy courthouse. Curiosity prompted T. and me to make a friendly call at the office of the County Superintendent of Schools (Mr. Barge) in the building. A young man of good appearance.
   Ride to Dixey-Boone Hotel at Mt. Vernon for supper and bed. After supper went on an errand to the other hotel there and found Mertie Tabor a guest there. She and her father were on their way by auto to Benton H. Had driven from St. Petersburg, Fla. Nice visit with her. Did not see Mr. Taber who was in bed.

   Left Mt. Vernon at 6.30 and had breakfast at the charming Daniel Boon Hotel at Berea. It happened to be Founders’ Day, a gala day at the college. We were given a guide, a Miss Elliot, who showed us and a gentleman and his wife about the buildings--the kitchen, bakery, dormitories, and the extremely interesting building given up to household utilities.
   Then we went to the Founders Day exercises in the college chapel. Edwin Embree, secretary of the Rosenwald Educational Foundation, a grad. of Berea, the speaker of the day. Pres. Hutchins presided. --
The story of Rev. John G. Fee, founder, a grad. of Lane Seminary. The mad of “one (great) idea”. The pacifist. Colleague of Cassius M. Clay, the militant abolitionist. Fee’s father.
Wife. Baptism. Fee’s address in Beecher’s church after John Brown’s raid. Fee’s autobiography. etc.
   Choir sang, “O God, our help in ages past”.
   The women’s glee club sang some beautiful words set to an air from Finlandia. I had always wanted to use that air for that purpose and after I got back to H.P. I write Miss Gladys V. James, musical director, who sent me a copy of her arrangement of the music and the source of the words.
   Following the address, Prof. Samuel L. Mayfield of the department of forestry made an arbor day appeal and announced the afternoon exercises.

The church of St. Joseph at Bardstown.
The beautiful old homesteads visible in the Bardstown area.
Pushed on to Hodgenville for the night. At same hotel, Ben Wimsett, (and his mother) proprietor, as on previous visit in 1911.

Raining as we approached H. and rained all evening. The usual meals heavily supplied with biscuits, pancakes, meat, etc. Colored waiters. Wimsett looked like an old man now. Mother dead. He did not remember me, of course.

[On this day, Mr. Smith wrote to Miss Funk requesting mimeograph copies of a memorandum. His letter to Miss Funk and a typewritten memo believed to be the one referred to in his diary are transcribed as follows: – ed.]

April 13, 1932

Miss Clara E. Funk,
The Robert G. Marshall Letter Co.,
1167 Merchandise Mart, Chicago.

Dear Miss Funk:

You may recall that Mr. Pattee introduced me the other day in your office and that I spoke of a memorandum I wished mimeographed. I enclose the memorandum and also copy for a letter to accompany this. I wish 100 copies of each.

Please use your judgment as to form, paging, etc. of the memorandum.

I would like the mimeographed letter to carry my private heading and I plan to put the copies you send me into the press and print the desired heading.

Very truly yours,

MEMO

This memorandum is addressed to the officers and members of the Board of Directors of the Geographic Society of Chicago and has to do with a possible enlarged program of activities for the Society. It is put forth at this time in the belief that in time of depression there is nothing more appropriate than to plan for the better times ahead. There, too, is the consciousness that the coming of the Century of Progress Exposition may make the present moments fateful in the history of the Society.

This the 34th year of the existence of the Geographic Society finds it actively promoting only a small portion of the program laid out for it in the earlier years of the Society. The present constitution of the Society adopted in 1910 and revised to May, 1930, still enumerates eleven “objectives” of the Society. These may be more or less vaguely in our minds as we carry on these days but little is said about them. Perhaps it should be admitted that the multiplication of means of distributing geographical knowledge in the past twenty years have rendered less urgent some of these objectives and that the expansion of activities of other organizations has covered much that once seemed to devolve upon the Society. On the other hand resources now available make possible the accomplishment of aims once regarded as more or less ideal. In view of this one can hardly avoid the feeling that the present activities of the Society are rather meager and that these activities should be challenged from time to time lest we come to accept them as the measure of our possibilities.
It is quite impressive to find ourselves filling Orchestra Hall ten or twelve times a year but the series of lectures is surely not a major reason for the existence of our Society as a Geographic Society. The prestige of that name should belong to an organization committed to a varied and aggressive program of activities. A fortuitous program of lectures, no matter how valuable each lecture may be, is not sufficient. When we confer our medal upon a distinguished geographer his acceptance of this honor implies his confidence in the seriousness with which we regard our mission as a geographic society and as a patron and promoter of geographic research. We thus incur a responsibility to every one who accepts our medal. It is this responsibility that might well make us uneasy over our present status.

From its very beginning the Society conceived of itself as an intermediary in the educational world. It was hospitable to scholarly addresses and it had a zeal for acquainting teachers and laymen in general with less technical though highly important results of research. It frequently shared with the University of Chicago in the expense involved in bringing some noted lecturer to Chicago. Its ambition was to minister through varied activities to scholar and layman alike. It is the purpose of this memorandum to emphasize the point of view that an “enlarged program of activities” more consistent with the earlier aims of the Society than the present is possible and to suggest a way of enlisting our entire membership in the work.

Many features of a “varied and aggressive program” readily suggest themselves but we can hardly outline any undertaking of major significance for our Society without coming to the problem of administration. The analysis of practically every important undertaking would reveal the necessity of having a trained executive to carry it out. A discussion of what sort of an executive we need and how we might finance him and his activities would better take precedence of any program planning. After all the nature of a practical working program for the Society in the changing world of today could hardly be determined without repeated tryouts involving executive initiative and responsibility. Without something of this sort we shall have to be content with the functioning of committees and with more or less fumbling of important matters. In all fairness an honest discussion of what we would like to do and the obstacles in the way of doing that will make us all the more appreciative of the skill with which our present program is carried on today. We will be patient with its limitations but we must not be content.

An executive director for a geographic society with a broad and challenging program should have a significant place among the educational leaders of the Chicago area. We should wish him to be a scholar, a promoter and an educator of fine vision. To a man fitted to occupy such a place we should give a liberal salary and to insure time for important tryouts and adjustments this salary should be guaranteed for at least three years. By that time we should be more nearly sure what important contribution the Geographic Society might reasonably be expected to make to the higher life of Chicago and what influence it might exert in the great area from which Chicago derives.

Assuming that under a new organization with an executive director in charge the present activities would be maintained as a sort of by-product of the enlarged program and that the membership dues would continue to be needed to maintain this status quo, there would needs be a special fund of fifteen or twenty thousand dollars a year to provide for the director’s salary and some necessary increase to our present clerical force. The writer thinks that when the proper time seems to be at hand the entire membership should be enlisted to raise such a fund. This would be wide apart from our endowment fund which for the present purpose we might forget. In the opinion of the writer the Geographic Society has gradually gotten into the bad habit of waiting for some one to endow it. The remedy for this would be to carry on with a well-defined purpose and pay our way as we go. Perhaps many of us who could not contribute in sums of three or four figures to an endowment fund could and would contribute for a definite period of years the interest on such sums.

A contributor’s fund, let us call it, to be used at once in important undertakings of the Society would interest every member of the Society, even those who would not feel able to help support it. It would be a great thing to try to enlist the entire membership in some undertaking for a well-defined goal. The effort to establish such a fund would bring the officers and directors of the Society and the rank and file of the Society into direct contact. It might establish a precedent for discussing the affairs of the Society with its membership at large and for asking this membership from time to time to help define the aims and ideals of the Society. An endowment fund fails to appeal to many people, even to those of large means, but a serial fund, as it were, involving the acid test of the worth of the organization to be supported, has the appeal of a good investment. We may well be proud of our present endowment fund for which in great part we are indebted to the generous contribution of a few of our members. It is gratifying to envisage this enlarged in time as the growing significance of the Society attracts financial support and making possible the prosecution of far-reaching special projects. It should be jealously reserved for such purposes but for the support of programs that demonstrate our productiveness as an organization we should rely upon funds raised to accomplish immediate ends, funds which it is understood would vanish in due time if the program lagged.

It is seen that the discussion has referred to three funds, the annual dues of the Society, its endowment fund and a proposed contributor’s fund. The annual dues seem to be ample for the present activities of the Society, the major feature, as above noted, being a series of twelve lectures at Orchestra Hall. It is likely that a series of this sort will always appeal to a great many of our membership and represent their chief interest in the Society. However, since the annual disbursements of the Society at this time exceed $12,000.00 it will be seen that the lectures as the more tangible part of our present program are indeed very expensive. With an enlarged program of activities much of this "overhead" would, of course, be charged elsewhere. The relation between the endowment fund and the proposed contributor’s fund should be noted. An executive director made possible because of the latter fund would have, let us say, two special functions to promote the study of Chicago, its cultures, its commerce, its art and architecture, its history, the physiography of the region of Chicago, etc., and to promote far-reaching special projects which would involve endowment funds and special gifts. There are usually funds forthcoming in Chicago when great occasions present themselves and are properly interpreted.

Generally speaking the executive director would conceivably bring to the Society a program of his own to be developed in due time but his immediate usefulness would be in helping our standing committees to function. It would be easy to show in detail how much major committees as those on program, conservation, excursions, publications, research, and public relations might richly contribute to the work of the Society if there were someone always on the job to insure continuity of effort. To our lecture series, for example, there might be added yearly a few lectures of outstanding significance prepared especially for the Geographic Society. Important messages might occasionally get their first public hearing prepared especially for the Geographic Society. Important messages might occasionally get their first public hearing before our Society. Our series of research lectures, one of the most promising features of our work, of recent years, would assume a fixed and important position in our yearly calendar.

With the help of the executive director the committee on conservation might greatly increase the influence of our Society in matters relating to conservation in the Chicago area and the middle west. Our Society had an honorable part in initiating the movement which resulted in the establishment of Starved Rock State Park and the influence of its members has been felt in practically every conservation movement of importance. Usually, however, the initiative has come from other organizations. The most important pronouncements on state parks for Illinois have come from the Friends of Our Native Landscape. The Chicago Regional Planning Association is covering a field in which it would have been peculiarly appropriate for the Geographic Society to have been recognized. Fryxell’s “The Physiography of the Region of Chicago", the outstanding bulletin of recent years, was sponsored by that organization.
The extremely interesting work on the revision of the Chicago Folio of the U.S. Geological Survey is going forward without the official knowledge or participation of the Geographic Society.

The work of the excursion committee could be greatly enlarged and enriched with the assistance of the executive director. The more significant excursions, for example, could be anticipated considerably in advance by excursion notes with bibliographies, maps, etc. sent out to each member of the Society. These notes having been tested in the excursion activity itself and duly expanded would later on appear in permanent form as an excursion bulletin of the Society.
It is a pleasure to recall that the earliest publications of the Society are still among the “best sellers” in our list. In recent years the committee on publications of the Society has practically ceased to function. An executive director with a jealous regard for the achievements of the Society might be able to revive interest in this phase of its activities.

This memo concludes with the recommendation that the officers and directors of the Society resolve themselves into a committee of the whole on a possible enlarged program of activities, associating with themselves on this committee such other members as are necessary to make it widely representative of the most thoughtful members of the Society. This will, of course, include Chicago public school teachers who are not now directly represented on the official list of the Chicago Geographic Society. It is the hope of the writer that those to whom this addressed will approve of the suggestion to set this committee to work to the end that a program may be thoroughly outlined and ready for the opportune moment.

Respectfully submitted,

Jesse L. Smith

April 17, 1932.

RANDOM NOTES.

We need considerable authentic data about the new commanding officer at St. Charles. Mr. Bardwell wrote me that the impression at Aurora was that it was a good appointment because of Mr. Havelik’s considerable experience in the vocational training work at Mooseheart. We should have as much data as possible about the manner of dismissing Mr. Elliott. Perhaps he can be persuaded to unbosom himself to some one on the committee. We should know Mr. Havelik’s previous history as a politician and his affiliations.

Mrs. Henry P. Chandler told me that right after Mr. Havelik’s appointment he spent several hours in Mr. Chandler’s office carefully studying a mass of confidential material Mr. Chandler’s committee though it wise to withhold from publication. She thought this a good sign as to Mr Havelik’s seriousness. Incidentally should not our committee as for access th this datum? Much of this must have been accumulated by Mrs Chandler for she spoke of spending six weeks at St. Charles while the investigation was going on.

In the Report of the Committee on Child Welfare Legislation which was published February 3, 1931, pages 11 and 12, one finds the names of workers and organizations who assisted the committee in its investigations. (Mr. Chandler lost his first wife two or three years ago, as I remember, and his present wife is probably one of the workers mentioned under her maiden name in the report).

I had a talk with Mr. Chandler in his office in November and he listened sympathetically to the suggestion that all educational work be transferred from the Dep’t of Public Welfare to the University of Illinois but he said that it was of course out of the province of his committee to take the matter up and commit itself.

Mrs Chandler told me that during the summer some of her associates had some hopes that Brandon would appoint Harrison H. Dobbs to head the school and that they were disappointed at Mr. Havelik’s appointment instead. However, they were “hopeful”. Mr. Thompson has some data relating to the consideration of Mr. Dobb’s appointment which he will present to us. Incidentally Mr. Thompson is, and has been, able to lay the case for and against St. Charles before the American Legion people and this promises to be one of the most important things this committee can do. I suggest that at his discretion he outline his experience and give us a synopsis of his communication with the educational committee of the Legion. If he prefers to make an oral report when we meet, O. K.

If you haven’t a copy of the Report mentioned above, write to Mr. Henry P. Chandler, 30 North LaSalle Street, Chicago. Copies are scarce but your requisition will be met, I think. I would write for you but I want to make a raid later on and do not wish to dull my credit.

The last report of the Department of Public Welfare is dated 1930. Better write to Mr. Brandon at Springfield if you haven’t a copy.

Early in March I had an interview with Dr. Paul Schroeder, head of the Dep’t of Juvenile Research and he expressed much interest in the educational plan proposed. He sent me a formal note the next day thanking us for our interest in his work and inviting us to a conference at his offices. --- Mr. Brandon told us two years ago about Dr. Schroder’s work with a group of dull boys at the Cook County Infirmary, this group being referred to as “The Oaks”. The project has been transferred to St. Charles where it is still referred to as “The Oaks”. This might prove to be the entering wedge for opening other cottages for special projects. I wish some of us could look this up.
It seems that the department of sociology at Northwestern is nibbling at the St. Charles situation. A few weeks ago Dean Stout told me casually that the University was conducting tests at St. Charles. I found out last evening that a Highland Park boy, a junior at Northwestern, has recently spent a week at St. Charles with other students in some sort of “research” program. He told his mother that he had had some wonderful experiences. Is there some one of us who can talk this over with Dean Stout?

When one reads over the reports in the bulletin of the Dep’t of Public Welfare and notes the numerous references to clinics, conferences of training students with social workers, etc., etc. and reflects that this practically fails to reach St. Charles, it seems sort of hopeless to expect anything better.

The University of Chicago issues a bulletin of 57 pages relating to the Graduate School of Social Service Administration in which there is much specific reference to undergraduate work. The titles of lectures offered and of field trips outlined fairly makes one’s mouth water. I find very little of this outlined in the bulletin of the University of Illinois. I wrote to Urbana asking for all data relating to this type of work and received in reply only the general catalogue of the University. I think that university does not do much to occupy the field.

What do you think of one or more of the following projects:

A morning with Miss Edith Abbott or Miss Breckinridge at the University of Chicago and an afternoon with Dr. Schroeder?

An hour with Mr. Chandler at his office downtown.

A day at St. Charles--at Geneva.

Have you some dope you can write out hastily as I have done this and send it around so that we can be thinking it over before we meet?

Jesse L. Smith
His own stenographer.

Mr. Jesse L. Smith,
Superintendent of Schools
Highland Park, Illinois

Dear Friend:

I have your communication entitled “Random Notes” and hardly know what to advise. I think there is little to be gained by you talking with Miss Edith Abbott, or Miss Breckinridge, or Dr. Schroeder or even with Mr. Chandler. I feel that the only solution is to get the St. Charles School for Boys under the management of the University of Illinois. Whatever steps you think necessary for that are the things we should work for. Please sit down and outline the steps you think necessary for the preliminary political work to gain this end.

Your suggestion about talking with Dean Stout is not bad. You are so near Dean Stout I wonder if you could see him.

Your suggestion on the a day at St. Charles and at Geneva is wise to me, because we always have such good times together. I do not know that we would accomplish anything but it will put us in a better position to talk on the subject. If you can come out for a day, please write me beforehand and we shall “kill the fatted calf” or something of that kind. My wife is very anxious for you to “break bread” with us.

Hoping to see you at DeKalb if not before, I am your old friend,

Howard Storm

Supt. Jesse Smith

My dear Mr. Smith:

This will acknowledge the receipt of your letter of April 17th. I must confess that I am not well informed as to the character of the work which our committee is expected to undertake. I shall immediately take the steps you have suggested and see what can be done to make me more intelligent.

Possibly sometime during the month of May I will be able to get away for a day to visit the school. I imagine that it is necessary for us to proceed with tact and secure cooperation from the political forces which are in control. I feel that it is somewhat unfortunate for so many student groups to be making investigations. These investigators usually have very meager background and are unable to see relations. This is because of their immaturity and very frequently they do more harm than good as has been illustrated in the Kentucky coal fields.

I am writing for the official documents which you mentioned and trust that I may receive copies of same.

Very truly yours,

My dear Mr. Smith:

I read your general communication of April 17th with a great deal of interest. Evidently you have been quite active, and have been getting in touch with the right people in connection with the idea of educational jurisdiction over St. Charles. As the whole situation is new to me, and I really know nothing about it, I cannot think of anything at this time worthy of consideration by members of the committee. I shall be glad to join in the meeting with Dr. Schroeder and the others. A couple of weeks ago Mrs. Gass, who was teaching at “The Oaks” after leaving here, was here but I did not have a chance to talk with her about the subject that we we are interested in.

Sincerely yours,

[On this day Professor Raymond W. Fairchild of the School of Education at Northwestern University wrote a letter to Mr. Smith regarding the St. Charles School For Boys. Prof. Fairchild’s letter is transcribed as follows: - ed.]

October 4, 1932.

Supt. J. L. Smith,
Highland Park, Ill.

Dear Mr. Smith:

Thank you very much for sending the enclosed clipping to me. It is interesting even if not true in most respects. It is difficult to conceive how some things can even by manufactured on such a wholesale basis.

Thinking you might be interested in a report that our sub-committee made a few weeks ago I am enclosing a copy of this report which you may keep if you wish.

I shall hope to see you at the Round-Table and we can talk at greater length on this St. Charles matter.

Yours very truly,
R. W. Fairchild.
R. W. Fairchild.

RWF: S
The clipping referred to in Prof. Fairchild’s letter was from the June 12, 1932 issue of the Decatur Sunday Herald and Review. Headlined “With St. Charles School Revealed as a Sorry Joke, Illinois Welfare Department Gropes for Solution of Bad Boy Problem,” it was written by Robert A. Barracks, a Herald-Review staff reporter. The article quotes Rodney Brandon, director of the Illinois State Department of Public Welfare, “Two years and a half ago, the Chandler commission was formed to make a study of child welfare legislation and problems. At that time Miss Olive Hull, who later married Henry P. Chandler, head of the commission, was sent to St. Charles to make a study of the situation here. Her report was so discouraging that I decided some drastic steps must be taken at once.” According to the article, Mr. Brandon stated, “During all of the years that St. Charles was going to the dogs, Illinois was growing famous through the world for her Institute of Juvenile Research in Chicago....I decided to try a whirl at working out a new system, using the institute, taking St. Charles out of politics and substituting scientific methods for the ones in use. The Institute agreed to take over the job, but it wanted some help. I agreed to give it and named an advisory board made up of experts to serve without pay. Three months ago the board held its first meeting.” The article notes that Mr. Brandon named Prof. Harrison Dobbs of the department of sociology, University of Chicago, to the board. Prof. R.W. Fairchild of the faculty of Northwestern university was given the job of building special curricula in St. Charles. He had been a school superintendent in Elgin. – ed.]

In his letter, Prof. Fairchild also refers to a sub-committee report which he enclosed for Mr. Smith. That report is transcribed as follows: - ed.]

REPORT OF SUB-COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

August 19, 1932

To the Advisory Council of the St. Charles School for Boys:

It may be somewhat disappointing to some members of the advisory council to note that this report of the Sub-Committee on Education does not contain extensive recommendations for marked changes in educational procedure. While your sub-committee recognizes the need for improvement in the nature, content and methods of educational offerings in the St Charles School for Boys, it does not seem advisable just at the present time to advocate any radical changes or to recommend a completely new program. The results from the present period of general readjustment within the school as a whole will undoubtedly soon pave the way for a more definite proposal along educational lines. However, there are certain reactions and recommendations of a general nature that your committee is pleased to present for the consideration of the Advisory Council.

A. Your Sub-Committee on Education recognizes:

1. The general educational program of the St. Charles School for Boys is the center around which the institution revolves and hence should be just as strong and as effective as possible.

2. Vocational training is an essential part of the general education program, especially for boys of the St. Charles type. As such an essential element, vocational work should be definitely offered and encouraged, being closely coordinated with the so-called academic program.

3. The teaching staff of the school is the hub of the institution and both through selection and in-service improvement should be of high order for both academic and vocational work.
4. That good teaching cannot be expected without both good quality and adequate amount of equipment and materials.

5. That there are many trying situations that confront the Managing Officer in the much needed general reorganization of the institution. We commend Mr. Havlik for his forward-looking view of his entire problem and for his constructive attitude toward the educational interests of the institution. Noticeable progress is evident despite serious handicaps.

B. Your Sub-Committee on Education recommends:

1. That the Advisory Council take such action as will definitely hasten the delivery and installation of the vocational equipment already authorized and so much needed in the school at the present time.

2. That there be a close coordination of the so-called vocational and academic phases of the educational program.

3. That the teaching of vocational work should be in the hands of qualified instructors. There is no reason why this group should not aid in the maintenance and production departments of the institution, but their first responsibilities should be in matters of education.

4. That a program of in-service improvement of teachers be actively projected to include:
   a. A liberal amount of visitation of other types of schools by all teachers in the St. Charles School for Boys.
   b. Regular faculty meetings of a professional nature having as a portion of their program reports of visitation of various schools.
   c. Outside speakers on special educational subjects to be brought to St. Charles once each month from September through May by such arrangements as will not involve expense to the school or the state.
   d. The inviting of teaching groups in near-by towns to meet with the St. Charles teachers, possibly on the occasion of having special speakers, such meetings to be both social and educational.
   e. Definite encouragement to be given members of the school staff to further their education through summer session and extension courses.
   f. Provision of professional books and magazines for extensive use of the teachers of the school.

5. That each Quarterly Requisition have definitely included needed educational equipment and materials, especially for geography, history, science and commerce courses.

6. That special provision be made for the immediate acquisition of much needed magazines for both the school and the cottages.

7. That present part-time music be extended to full time.

If the foregoing recommendations can be carried out we believe the foundation will have been laid upon which a more satisfactory educational program can be built than by a too hurried procedure at the present time. It should be the early expectation that the educational program finally developed will be such as will at least serve the following purposes:

1. Make for easier, happier and more satisfactory adjustments of the boys while they are in the St. Charles School for Boys and thus reduce disciplinary problems.

2. Create a spirit of interest and, if possible, enthusiasm for a new type of experience in recreation and in academic and vocational endeavor beyond anything that public schools have been able to offer.

3. Eradicate as far as possible non-social and anti-social inclinations so prevalent in boys of this type.

4. Contribute definitely to the knowledge of the boys those things that will make them more valuable citizens, -- capable of better adjustment to society when they are returned to their respective communities.

Toward some such ultimate educational program your committee is actively committed at such time and in whatever order its introduction will be in the best interests of the institution as a whole.

Respectfully submitted,

Isabelle Dolton
Harry F. Hill
Martin Reymert
Harrison A. Dobbs
R. W. Fairchild.

My distemper so bad I stayed in all day. Phoned directions to school. The 3rd’s in basement rooms were instructed to use upper rooms, the latter to double up.
I left cold water running in bathroom all night & an hour after I shut it off this A M. the pipe froze up. However it thawed out all right when Ted Decker insulated things over head in the kitchen lavatory. Decker & Noerenberg refitted the pipes today & hot water is running now in the bathroom. 570 Anthony St.,
Glen Ellyn, Ills.

Dec. 16th. ’32.

Dear Mr. Smith:-

Your letter of the 12th. inst. was recd. in due time. It’s very fine of you to say that you look forward with pleasant anticipations in receiving anything I might write for our forthcoming annual bulletin.
To this will say, that my fond hope is that I have something worthwhile. At present am racking my head to see if there is anything that could possibly be made servicable.

Bailey suggested that a little something be said about our bird and wild-flower sanctuary. There might be a little, but not much.

Have thought a winter picture to accompany it might work in and add to the interest, so I’ve loaded my holders and am waiting for the opportunity. But the weather has been so frigidly cold there hasn’t been an opportunity as yet. About Musselman, will try and get a letter off to him today.

Yes, I reckon they have missed you at the directors’ meetings. Last month was the first I’ve attended this fall. Was away through the summer and up into Sept.

At least one Meadowlark lingers in our town.

Very sincerely,

Ben T. Gault

Miller of the Department of Forestry at Springfield, Mr. James C. Plagge of Barrington, Illinois, Miss Sally Dawson of Marshall, Illinois and Miss Frances S. Dobson of Rockford, Illinois. Mr. Smith’s letter to Mr. Miller and Mr. Miller’s reply are transcribed as follows: - ed.]

December 17, 1932.

Mr. R. B. Miller,
Department of Forestry,
Springfield, Ill.

My dear Mr. Miller:

I am tempted to try you out with the conventional greeting, “What do you know”?

I am in the market for news for the next issue of the Annual Bulletin of the Illinois Audubon Society and as you may recall almost anything is grist for our mill. If you have any reports from which I may crib material, or items that you may be able to contribute, it will be much to my liking. Have you something about Horseshoe Lake?

I hope things are all right in your Department.

With best wishes of the season, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
December 22, 1932

My dear Mr. Smith:

I will reply to your inquiry by saying what most people these days say around the State House--We don’t know anything. In fact, that gets to be a habit on the part of us “payrollers.” At least, it has been the safest way of getting along.

I sent you an article from the Prairie Farmer written by some of their representatives who was sent down here or to some of the places. Mr. Locke, Assistant Forester, had been delegated to write some sort of publication for them describing the different properties and has some good photographs with it. He is the most competent man to do this as he has been intimately connected with most of them and he tells me that this should be available about January first. The issue will be limited but I will try to see that you get a copy to use in the Bulletin. There will be something about Horseshoe Lake. Being in touch with him I can certainly get hold of a copy. It is an effort to show up what has been done by the Department and will be reliable.

Further than this we do not know what will happen and hear all sorts of rumors. One that Horner will improve Civil Service and another that the State House will be cleaned out thoroughly. Well, whatever happens Mr. Smith, I think you can say that I have tried to cooperate with others, have tried to give people service and have tried to give credit where the credit was due. What else can one say?

You have likely read the December 15 issue of the Conservation Council minutes. From this it would appear that nothing was done between August, 1926 and about 1930 when somebody put in some hard work. As to “the appropriations being spent by politicians” you need only to look in the Auditor’s Report for those years to disprove that. It was no worse now than then, if you wish the truth of the matter. The Governor’s nephew was on the payroll as an “Assistant Forester” but during this administration a man from Cairo who was not a forester at all drew down the same salary for the same position and only recently was put off the payroll. So, which was the worst? I can tell you all about it if you come down to the Principal’s meeting.

We trust that Forestry will have a chance during the next administration. Some have proposed to put Forestry with Parks under Public Works and Buildings but it is perfectly all right where it is if they will give us a chance. Again Parks and Forests might be successfully administered under Public Works and Buildings, as it is in Indiana under the Department of Conservation. The organization, in my mind, is not as important as the kind of men who administer it. We want real conservationists rather than those interested in their own advancement.

Well, as you see I do not know anything and this is not for publication. The circular will be, when I send it to you. One thing, we have received our salary regularly and in this respect have been ahead of those in the Chicago Schools. A new budget has been made out and we propose to go ahead as long as they will allow us to stick around. Just what changes will be made in the budget or in the organization of the Department, I am not able to say. If I stay here I hope to be able to cooperate with you and all of the rest of my friends, as I have in the past.

Enclosed is a verse sent me by Dr. Hieronymus as a Christmas card which has a good thought that you may wish to use, by Edward Markham. Say hello for me to Mr. Shenton if you see him as I have not heard from him for a long time.

I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

RB Miller

For Set B we wish the following slides if possible:

Brown Thrasher
Redheaded Woodpecker
W.B. Nuthatch
Chickadee
Bobolink
Kingfisher
Baltimore Oriole
Cardinal
Redwinged Blackbird
Horned Lark

When you find just what you can dig up for us, please send me the titles of the slides. I have the titles of all the other slides in set B and I will arrange the slides in order.

Please ask Miss (I have forgotten her name again) to get a box of round red seals and tag each slide. The number can be written on in good ink when I have the entire list at hand to arrange.

As I explained to Miss Clark, there are now four of the special carrying cases in use now. One contains Set A; one, set B (unfinished); one, contains all of the prairie chicken slides except six that I have included in sets A and B; and one that contains about sixty slides of which twenty or so can be used in building up a third travelling set, if this at any time seems necessary.

Gray. Threatening. A film of snow late in day. Colder Edith spent the day at her club meeting in Gary Mr Leech & I scouted in Sweeney’s Woods and dug up & brot home some specimens of skunk cabbage. The frozen crust was from two to four inches thick only, & this a pick axe easily penetrated. We saw no tips above ground but pits betrayed the presence of plants.
This aft I set Frances Smigosky writing letters to each of the officials of the Geog Soc to accompany a four page memo I prepared nearly a year ago.

[On this day, Mr. Smith wrote a letter to Clifford Gregory, editor of The Prairie Farmer. Mr. Smith’s letter and the managing editor’s reply are transcribed as follows: - ed.]

December 31, 1932,

Mr Clifford V. Gregory,
Editor, The Prairie Farmer,
1230 W. Washington St., Chicago

Dear Mr. Gregory:

I am collecting material for the Annual Bulletin of the Illinois Audubon Society, an illustrated bulletin of 48 pages, and I would like to quote from the edition of Prairie Farmer for August 20, 1932. An article by Dave Thompson entitled “Producing Wild Game and Fish” includes an excellent description of the wild life sanctuary at Horse-shoe Lake.

I would like to use Mr. Thompson’s material in this fashion:

“In an article in Prairie Farmer for August 20 about the work of the Illinois Department of Conservation in restoring our natural life, Mr. Dave Thompson writes with enthusiasm about the development work on the Wild Life Sanctuary at Horse Shoe Lake near the Mississippi River in Alexander County.

‘Here’, writes Mr. Thompson, ‘is a lake seven miles long, etc.’”

May I have permission to do this?

Very truly yours,

January 3, 1932 (sic)

Mr. Jesse L. Smith
334 Vine Avenue
Highland Park, Illinois

Dear Mr. Smith:

We will be glad to let you use the material from Mr. Thompson’s story in the August 20 issue, in the manner you outlined in your letter of December 31.

Sincerely yours,

W. Floyd Keepers
Managing Editor
